“ My late father Sammy Bright was Carol's husband Robert's first cousin. I remember Robert coming to grandma Angeline's house and I know I have met "Lolly" sometime through the years. My condolences to the Consalvo family, and may you find peace and comfort during this difficult time.

“ Carol taught me everything I needed to know about being an Italian. She held onto family traditions and celebrated life to the fullest. She gave her heart and soul to members of her family, that you seldom see these days. Carol-rest in peace and thanks for all the great Sunday pasta dinners and holiday celebrations. Please give Bob and Toby a kiss and hug from me.

“ Loll was the anchor in so many lives. A real live Guardian Angel here on earth. She never a bad word for anyone and always took the high road. I will miss our porch time together but know that she will be in her usual chair with us. As we all know, there was very little deviation. She will now be smiling huge while she meets her beloved husband Bob and her dear Bobby. Enjoy the ride my friend!!
